FEAR WEALTHY L. A. COUPLE SLAIN

Police of this city and Oakland early this morning started a search for Anthony W. Allen and his wife of 745 East Washington street, who are believed to have met with foul play on the highway between this city and San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Allen, it was stated last night, left Los Angeles on December 25 for the north in their motor car. Mr. Allen's said to have carried $10,000 on his person. As Oakland relatives had not heard from them since the date of their departure, they believed that the couple were slain and the car stolen and, under that impression, asked the police to institute a search. According to press dispatches from the north, the examination by authorities of registers of hotels on the route to San Francisco failed to disclose the signatures of Mr. and Mrs. Allen.

From the practical insurance viewpoint, the contract is really the standard "Use and Occupancy" insurance, the chief difference being the cause of loss, which, in this case, is a strike instead of fire, explosion or other physical disaster. Strike insurance, its advocates contend, is a business necessity to meet the losses caused by strikes. Besides furnishing indemnity they argue that it affords a practicable means of unifying employers of all industries and localities in the same way as the labor unions collectively act for the benefit of workers.

They insist that it is not conceived in a spirit hostile to labor, but is a practical balance wheel between two parties who for the moment appear unable to agree. Convincing proof of this was furnished, they declared, by the number of strikes prevented; the early termination of others and unity of purpose developed among employers.

must be stopped if the city's sea port is to retain its present volume of shipping business in competition with other ports of the Pacific Coast, in the opinion of Capt. Inar A. Pedersen, traffic manager at the local port. Capt. Pedersen, who has just returned from a conference with port officials at San Francisco, made a thorough investigation of the Bay City's plan to remove a State toil existing there that corresponds to the wharfage charges in effect at the harbor.

The project, as outlined by San Francisco Harbor officials, calls for the elimination of the toil to the shipper through proportional absorption by the rail carriers and the steamship lines. This is the policy in effect at Seattle. The carriers at San Francisco have proposed that they may be willing to share in such an absorption if the toils are split three ways, the rail lines absorbing 5 cents, the steamship lines 5 cepts and the carriers as similar share.

Capt Pederson has filed with the Recard of Harbac Commissioners.

SOLD TO REDS. About a month ago Oscar Vitt, the old Detroit third baseman, who was shipped to Boston in 1915, was sold down the river by Harry Frazee to the Cincinnati Reds. Oscar, who has reached the ripe old age of 32, will probably be traded to a minor league slub before the season opens.

age of 33, will probably be traded to a minor league elub before the season opens.

The sele of Cutshaw was more or less a hig surprise. The second baseman did good work for Pittsburg, and always was a dangerous man in the pinches. He was needed several times lest season when Joe Tierney, the hid second baseman, fell into a siump, and he always delivered. Perhaps the sale of Cutshaw pressures a general housecleaning in Pittsburg. It is said that several of the players did not get along any too well with Gibson, and after the team folded up in the sennant rase questioned the judgment of the manager repeatedly after the games had been lost. The second guessers are decidedly unpopular, and it is said that four or five others are slated for the auction block.

The second guessers are depeatedly after the games had been lost. The second guessers are defected in the four or five others are slated for the action block.

**Cutshaw is a record baseman and Detroit appears to be in needs of one. Pep Young, known to the nome folk hers in Philadelphia as Raiph Riewart Young, had a bad year, and perhaps Ty Coob wants to make a Jhange. Pep injured his arm or back or something, and his throwing was not up to its usual standard. They say in Detroit that Young is just as good as ever, and his aliment is purely imaginary. If such is the case it will be difficult to get him away from the key, stone sack because he is one of the services of the graduate school at the University of Southern California and allied subjects.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE NEW YORK BOND LIST.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Dealings in stocks today again were on a moderate scale and subordinated to the money market, where abundant supply of call and time funds resulted in further eass.

Reports that many larger local financial institutions have discharged their Federal reserve debts, coupled with low discounts by the Dalias (Tex.) Federal Reserve Bank, strengthened the belief that another cut is impending here.

Demand loans opened at 3½ per cent, the minimum initial quotation in over three years, subsequently falling to 3 per cent, yesterday's low figures. Time funds for all dates were offered at 4½ to 4½ per cent on mixed collateral. Prices started lower, railying variably at midday, only to manifest further irregularity in the later dealings. Oils were the objectives of the shorts, fresh selling being occasioned by a reduction of export prices.

With Just an Even Break In Mexia!

Three wells brought in by the Fosters in the Breckenridge, Texas, field are now paying investors at the rate of more than 100% per year on the investment!

And they are wells whose flush production was no more than 600

Think what the same success will mean in that field of marvels—Mexia!

For where wells in Breckenridge are measured in hundreds of barrels, those in Mexia are measured in thousands. It is the greatest field in the world for heavy producers of high grade petroleum. It has more 20,000-barrel wells than any field over discovered. And the average production par day from the entire field is greater than that of any other field.

Now, in a field like that, just stop and think what it will mean if the Posters do no more than equal their Breckenridge record. Just three wells as big as the average in Mexia, will make the earnings from their Breckenridge producers look almost insignificant. And yet those earnings are now at the rate of more than ONE HUNDRED PER CENT ON THE INVESTMENT.

We don't need to tell you that Foster clients, who are enjoying the traits of their Breckenridge success, can't get their money down fast enough for units

Foster's Me-hay-ah Syndicate

For Me-hay-ah units cost only $50 each and give you actual ownership in a pro rata share of all the production that comes from all the wells drilled on all of the Me-hay-ah Syndicate's leases.

And that means four wells guaranteed to be drilled at the outset and a possible 50 more. For Me-hay-sh owns three leases in Mexis totaling 525 acres, and one lease in Breckenridge of 30 acres, Easily room for nearly 60 wells. Now just get these two facts with the full weight of their meaning:

The Posters have given overwhelming evidence of their good faith and their ability as all producers by bring-ing in three aplendidly profitable wells within three months, and by promptly distributing their menthly earnings.

2. The Fosters are going into a much bigger field with precisely the same able organization and the same straightforward methods — a field where just average success means wealth that can easily become stu-

Before the dairy workers, who had been aroused by the blast, could reach the building the robbers looted the safe and escaped in a small automobile.

It was pointed out by Mr. Coverley that no oil development work in Kamchatka can be inaugureted by the Standard oil Company until trade relations between this country and Russia are established, because the sixty-year concessions secured about two years ago by Washington Vanderlip do not become operative until recognition has been extended to Russia by the United States.

The Vanderlip Syndicate holds concessions for valuable coal, oil and timber lands, fisheries, etc., on lands east of the one hundred and sixtieth meridian in Kamchatka, as province of Siberia. He said in part:
"Faith is not intellectual belief, it is an action of the will based upon evidence and judgment. In a religious sense, faith is a transaction between God and man, it is man's surrender to the Almighty. Christianity is the only religion that makes faith a fundamental of salvation. Christ is called the savior of these who believe. In the nature of things He could not save those who do not believe in Him and act upon their belief. To flustrate this, let us take a great locomotive and a long train of cars, laden with lumber. The big engine is backed up to the cars and the engineer is instructed to go. The engine moves out, but the trouble? Simply this: The engine and the string of cars have not been coupled together. So it is in the spiritual life. God has infinite power it: save and bless and heal, but without the exercise of faith, which joins man to Him, man remains in darkness, irnor-

FOUNDATION OF FAITH.

FOUNDATION OF PAITH.

"A Japanese regiment making its way through Siberia eame to a well of water. The soldiers were thirsty, their lips and throats parched and gladly would they have slaked their thirst with the cooling waters. But the commander, having heard that many wells thereabouts had been poisoned, called Halt. He then commanded the chemical engineer to examine the water. In two hours the report came back: The water is 100 per cent pure. The lieve you, said the commander.

"Was that faith? No, that was only a foundation for faith. Real faith was manifested when the commander turned to his men and said, 'Drink!' He had staked the lives of his soldiers on the word of the chemist. Faith is a venture, a daring, it is action by the individual, based on evidence and judgment. Faith is the secret of courage, the secret of sand and of great achievement, With it man can accomplish the seemingly miraculous, without it, man is of little worth to himself and of little value to the world."

THE SUPREME TEST.

"The supreme test of any golfers ability is the national open championship, where the score is by stroke for the entire journey."

The amateur title is considered to be the highest honor, but golfers know the open competition is a stiffer game. In the national open championships Chick has competed for about ten years. His score year by year in this competion will show that, during the ten years, he has been the outstanding score maker in the competition. A comparison of cards for ten years of the national open will show Evans at the top, and a compilation of the national open will show Evans at the top, and a compilation of the national open will show Evans at the top, and a compilation of the national open will show Evans at the top, and a compilation of the national open will show Evans to be America's best golfer.

"Chick can win the 1922 nation."

Chick Evans to be America's best golfer.

"Chick can win the 1922 national amateur if he goes after it. Chick himself has picked Bobby Jones, the boy wonder of Atlants, Ga., as this year's amateur winner, and others who know Chick's deadly accuracy on the links, case-hardened by so many years of championship experience, think that no one but Evans will be able to stand between Jones and the highest honor. Golfers may be sure that Evans will, as usual, simmer down through the matches to the semifinals and then, if I am not mistaken, to the championship."

Catherine Calvert to Wed.

Catherine Calvert, widow of the late Paul Armstrong, playwright, is to wed again, according to word just received from New York. The happy man who has succeeded in enlisting Miss Calvert, affections is Col. George Carruthers, sportsman and war veteran of Montreal, Can.

Miss Calvert, who is now appearing in New York in "Blood and Sand," will not, however, leave the stage, but will continue her career. Col. Carruthers is an exporter of wheat. During the war he entered service in Canada, and during the fighting in France received several decorations for what would make perfectly sane posite of the majority of Hindu melodramas. It is the opposite of the majority of Hindu plays, usually vehicles of little dramatic value and great pictorial beauty. "Chitra," the first effort of the new organization in Los Angeles, was practically a pageant in effect. This is widely different, strikingly dramatic, it is said.

The play was adapted by Profulla Kumah Ghoshal, who enacts the chief character role of a Brahma priest, a part he played for one of the two years that this piece ran in Calcutta at the Minerva Theater.

The rest of the cast is composed of Domini Redfern, Philip Taisey Hall, James Bush, Melve Bruck, Radha Byron, Max Cohen, Ray Delano Clifton, Arthur Q. Hager-man and others. Max Cohen in stage manager.

ers of nonconvertible notes may begin to receive a cash return from the sale of frontage before they have paid more than a part of their subscriptions. Lands selected by convertible note underwriters whose subscriptions to the notes were not fully paid, would be withdrawn from sale at the fixed cost and held for their account, until their subscriptions had been fully paid, when they could apply their notes in payment.

Nonconvertible note underwriters, entitled to distributions of money from the sale of lands, before their subscriptions had been fully paid, would have these money distributions applied on the unpaid balance of their subscriptions.

All subscriptions to the underwriting must be made direct to The Title Insurance & Trust Company, Los Angeles, and all remittances must be made to them. There are no "agents" or brokers entitled to receive subscriptions or payments.

Subscriptions made by mail receive priority according to the date and time of the postmark. Your subscription sent by mail would probably be received earlier and hence receive a lower number than if you took the time to deliver it in person.

The purchase of the Pales Verdes estates, located as they are, at $312 per acre, while flat lands in the bottoms adjoining, unimproved and not nearly so desirable, are held at from $750 to $5000 per acre, is, in my judgment, the best real estate investment to be had in greater Los Angeles. The expenditure of $30,000,000 on the improvements of these lands into the most beautiful and desirable residential city possible to design will, in my judgment, increase their value by several times the amount of the expenditure, and yet the lands and the improvements, costing $35,000,000, are the security for the $35,000,000 of the underwriting notes.

If, after the expenditure of thirty million dollars in the improvement of the lands, and deducting one-third of their total area for parks, streets, university, etc., the remaining improved frontages sells for an average of $50 per front foot with a depth of 208 feet, the gross return to the underwriters would be $110,000,000, and the parks, public buildings, schools and like improvements would be left over, while the $5,000,000 of homes provided to be built, the $4,000,000 provided for transportation facilities, the $1,500,000 of hotels and clubs, and the public utilities, included in the construction costs, would also be liquidatable and the net proceeds from them would be also distributable to the underwriters.

The Palos Verdes book, beautifully illustrated, giving in detail the plans for the construction and underwriting, may be had on request and will be mailed postage paid to anyone you desire, on supplying their name and address.

Every day you delay in entering your subscription to the underwriting notes places you farther down numerically, in the right of selection of lands at cost. A tentative proposition has been received for the taking of the entire remainder of the underwriting notes, by one of the largest construction organizations in America. Under no consideration will subscriptions to the underwriting notes be accepted on the basis of guaranteeing or promising a position or job. Common sense, however, would indicate that all else being equal, applicants for positions in the construction organization, and contracts for construction work would be given to subscribers to the underwriting, in preference to nonsubscribers. The thirty million dollars of the improvement and construction fund will be paid out here in Los Angeles in wages and for materials and work. Manifestly, other things being equal, the preference would be as a matter of fairness, given to individuals and firms subscribing to the underwriting.

NOTES ARE TRANSFERABLE

Convertible notes can be sold, assigned and transferred. Subscriptions to the notes on which there is an unpaid balance cannot, however, be sold or transferred without the consent of the Trustee, as this would be a substitution of obligatee. Installment subscriptions are the promissory notes of the subscribers, their obligations to pay their subscriptions and carry a definite place in line in the right of selection, therefore, until paid in full, they can only be transferred or sold by consent of the Trustee, since this would mean the substituting of another and different obligatee who might not be as responsible as the first one. When subscription has been paid in full, however, it is transferable or assignable. A subscriber to convertible notes may sell his subscription right at a premium, because of its priority or general advantage, and the purchaser by paying the balance of the subscription may secure a transfer of it to him, or may secure it with the unpaid balance being assumed by him, with consent of the Trustee. consent of the Trustee.

NOTES NOT ASSESSABLE

The convertible or nonconvertible notes are not assessable. They are not stock, but trust indenture notes, payable in improved lands and buildings at cost, or receiving first the entire net proceeds of the sale of frontage, lands and buildings until they have received 100% of par, and then receiving 90% of the proceeds of all remaining frontage, buildings and assets as liquidated. They are to be secured by trust indenture on the entire estate and all improvements covered thereby. The land and its improvements is their security, and the money loaned on them by those subscribing them, less only the 5%, can be used only for the purchase of the lands and their general improvement. The entire net proceeds of the sale of the lands and improvements must be distributed to the underwriting note-holders as stated. Those subscribing the convertible notes and applying them in purchase at cost of frontage or houses, stores, etc., take such lands, frontage or buildings at cost, in payment of their convertible notes, all the remaining assets and lands then belong to the nonconvertible notes, and as sold, the net proceeds must be distributed to the note-holders as stated.

proceeds must be distributed to the note-holders as stated.

If a subscriber to the convertible notes sells his subscription right or any part of it, for a premium of two or three times the amount he pays for it, he has in effect sold his frontage, which he secured at actual cost, at something like what it should sell for when he had applied his note. When the underwriting is closed, it will be impossible to purchase frontage homes and business buildings, provided for in the general construction, in any way excepting by securing convertible rights from the original underwriters, at whatever premium they demand, until after all the original underwriters of the convertible notes have first made their selections, and then only at the sales prices to the public. The original underwriters will hold first option at COST on the entire frontage and improvements of the entire estates before any person not holding a convertible underwritings can purchase. For this reason, immediately the underwriting is closed, there should be a very active market for the convertible rights at a high premium, since they represent the actual land and improvements at COST. The selling prices will range from 250% to 700% higher than the cost prices and since convertible subscriptions can be applied on ANY frontage and improvements offered, and at COST, the subscription rights to the convertible notes immediately on closing of the underwriting, should command a considerable premium. Convertible underwriters would probably not therefore have to wait until they had actually applied their notes and taken title to the frontage selected, in order to make a profit, but would be free to sell a part or all of their subscription, at a profit commensurable with the sales prices of the land itself, as against the cost prices to which they, as the underwriters, are entitled. Undoubtedly many subscribers will sell a fraction of their convertible-note rights for as much or more than their total subscription, leaving them the balance as clear profit. This than their total subscribers will sell a fraction of their convertible-note rights for as much or more than their total subscribt subscribers, leaving them the balance as clear profit. This is but the natural working out of any such subdivision undertaking. The public will know what the improvements will be, that they will be promptly made, and that they will cost a certain sum, therefore that the improved frontage will be worth at least a certain price, but the only way to obtain it will be by the purchase of convertible rights for original underwriters at a premium reasonably commencers with the difference between the conditions. premium reasonably commensurate with the difference between the cost price and the selling price. The making of first class street and other improvements on desirable residential property, increases the value of the land several times more than the cost of the improvements. In a general way, I should estimate that the selling prices to the public of the frontage and lands in Palos Verdes will be from three to seven times the cost prices to the

Subscriptions to convertible notes, taken on the 36 equal monthly payment basis, might be only one-third paid when the first subdivision is submitted for selections, but they will have the right of selection, if in good standing, just as though fully paid, the frontage selected being withdrawn from sale for their account.

Hapee Man Tells Club of Need Meet Water Tariff.

"If the railroads are denied the right to make transcontinental freight rates meeting water competition, both Coast shippess and those in the interior will eventually suffer from such restrictions." G. W. Luce, freight traffic manager of the Southern Facific, said in an address last anight before the Pacific Traffic Association in which he discussed traffic conditions. Besides talking on rail rates to meet water competition, Mr. Luce also pointed out that shippers will feel the affects of the inroads on rail traffic by highway competitors using highways or "tracks" built and maintained by the public. In discussing motor trucks and auto busses, Mr. Luce said they pay nothing, escept a small license fee for a facility to earn their revenue and the privilege of destroying the highways, which were built orimarily for pleasure or privately-owned automobiles and not for commercial purposes. He believes they should be made to pay a fair tax to compensate the public for the destruction of the roads.
